

Sharepoint Best practices Questions

I attend an intro to MS Sharepoint technologies, what I want to is does MS sharepoint is also part of the tools used for website design or mainly for webside updates, what other tools are required for one to practice website development/design. What is the shortest route?

Answer :: Microsoft Windows SharePoint Services 3.0 helps organizations, teams, and business units to be more effective by connecting people and information. You do not need to have expertise in designing Web sites to get started.

You can use top-level Web sites and subsites to divide site content into distinct, separately manageable sites to help you organize content.
